Take more control with DSA Static Headlines

Unique to Microsoft Advertising: Dynamic Search Ads with static headlines are available to all Dynamic Search Ads advertisers.

Static headlines allow you to run pre-approved ad titles and ad copies on Dynamic Search Ads.

In a single step, you can create ads from one landing page to all the landing pages in a domain.

You can either set a unique ad title for each page or apply a single general headline to all your pages.
Use Page Feeds to Easily Promote Holiday Deals in your DSA Campaigns

Increase Conversions

• Page feeds help ensure maximum page coverage as well as enable the labeling and targeting of specific URLs via custom labels.

Improve Auto-Target Page Freshness

• Each time a page feed is uploaded, the pages included in the feed are automatically recrawled if changes to them have occurred. If they aren’t currently included in the Bing index of your website, they will be added.

*The categories were: Toys, home décor, kitchen and dining, and catchall

<td>Set up your default bid close to your non-exact match bids for similar keyword categories and bid aggressively initially to get traction in the auction.</td>

<td>Take high-volume and high-converting keywords and add them to your regular text ad campaigns. Make sure to negate them in the Dynamic Search Ads campaign.</td>

<td>3</td>
<td>Exclude parts of your site that don’t drive many meaningful opportunities for your customers.</td>
