Let Microsoft Advertising help you plan your best retail campaign with the 2020 festive guide.
New year, same key dates to build your marketing calendar around

Although, we don’t expect 2020 to be similar to 2019, we want to share learnings from last year to influence your decisions this year.¹

December shopping may be different. Consumers are being encouraged to start their December shopping early to risk being disappointed by delivery delays.

Be sure to extend it through early January to capture the most shoppers.

This year is very unpredictable and consumer behaviors keep on changing.

To reach the right customers during the festive season, make sure to focus on automation and audiences.*
